

Some things to think about: How will you monitor the person who is using vulgar language when on their cell phone? What about crying? What about the person who has had too much to drink and decides to explode on the cell phone??

Who is the responsible party then? Does the co-pilot get involved? Or the pilot? Does the person's phone get taken away until the end of the flight?

I really feel there is no need what so ever to use cell phones in the air. I have sat next to too many people that the only thing going through my mind is; what would I do if they were able to keep the phone on through the whole flight!!!!!!
